Open House: Possible Changes to Solid Waste Collection

The City of Omaha is conducting four open houses in preparation for the next collection contract for recycling, yardwaste, and garbage. These meetings will provide residents with the opportunity to review the results of the City's studies and learn more about the contract process and what is being considered for the future. Review Wasteline's website for more information.

Each open house will display eight informational posters. There will be no formal presentation, but City officials and contractors will be on hand to answer questions. A survey/comment card will also be provided to each attendee.

To review the studies and the information that will be highlighted, check out the recent edition of Wasteline.
