Then There Were Three UnderTheSink

Special Waste Facility

PREVIOUS ISSUES OF WASTELINE have reported the progress made toward development of a facility to collect household chemicals. On Friday, April 20, the Metropolitan Area Planning Agency (MAPA), announced the three potential sites for a household chemicals collection facility. MAPA's technical advisory committee started with a list of 38 potential sites, the list was reduced to ten for the public meetings in March and now the short list of three sites will be further evaluated.

- Site 1: 60th & Harrison, near River City Recycling Center
- Site 2: North of 120th & I Streets, Omaha street maintenance yard
- Site 3: L St & Hwy 75, in former Omaha Stockyards area

The short list of sites was determined by comparing the three sites using the following criteria.

Distance from Population Centroid

The population centroid is estimated to be at 74th and Hickory Street. The lower the drive time to the centroid, the more points a site received.

- Site 1: 7 points (4.62 miles)
- Site 2: 6 points (6.11 miles)
- Site 3: 6 points (6.71 miles)

Zoning of the Site

The following is a list of point awards for the zoning criteria based on the appropriateness of the zoning:

- Site 1: 8 points (General Industrial)
- Site 2: 8 points (General Industrial)
- Site 3: 5 points (Heavy Industrial)

Distance to Major Traffic Ways and the Interstate System

Points awarded based on ease of access as follows:

- Site 1: 5 points
- Site 2: 8 points
- Site 3: 9 points

Ability to Acquire the Land

Points awarded for reviewer's assessment of effort required to obtain the sites:

- Site 1: 10 points (city owned)
- Site 2: 10 points (city owned)
- Site 3: 10 points (city owned)

Site Condition

Points were awarded based on size, site grading, earthwork requirements, environmental condition and other engineering criteria:

- Site 1: 7 points
- Site 2: 4 points
- Site 3: 3 points

When Will the Final Selection Be Made?

In the next round of evaluation, these three sites start fresh with no points. The design team members and the project partners will conduct a final evaluation re-visit the three finalist sites and compare them to additional suitability criteria. A final site recommendation will come in early June. The site will be announced and a final public hearing will be held to solicit comments from the public. Advertisements and public notice for the meetings will be in the area papers and on the web site. Please plan to attend.

Keep informed

The best way to keep informed about this project is to visit the facility web site, www.underthesink.org. There you can submit your opinion and learn about household hazardous waste. You can also access the information by the FRED faxback system at 444-3610. The documents available are:
